

Midwifery School FINANCIAL GUIDE 2018

How do I pay for my education?

One of the biggest hurdles that prospective students must get over is how they will make their time at Birthwise work financially. Although the total cost of tuition for our three-year program can seem daunting, our goal with this document is to give you information that will help you understand the financial aid process and show how even students with few resources can attend Birthwise. We don't want finances to prevent you from reaching your goal of becoming a midwife—please talk with us if you still have concerns after reading through this information.

Tuition may either be paid in full at the start of each semester or a payment plan (with financing fees) can be negotiated to spread tuition payments out over the semester.

Students purchase their books independently from the supplier of their choice. All required books are on reserve in the Birthwise library for Birthwise students to access. Midwifery equipment costs are approximately $165.

Other Costs

- » Travel costs to and from Birthwise and clinical rotation placements.
- » Housing costs while attending Birthwise.
- » Lab fees are required for a few select courses.

Financial Aid & FAFSA

Birthwise is an accredited institution recognized by the U.S. Department of Education. Our students are eligible to apply for federal student financial aid through the FAFSA application found on-line at FAFSA.gov. This is the same application that all students in the U.S. complete when seeking federal financial aid to attend higher education. Once this application is completed, the student indicates that they would like to attend Birthwise Midwifery School by including our school code (036123) when asked. This begins the process of awarding you aid that can be used toward your education at Birthwise based on four criteria:

- 1.) Family income (parent income if dependent)
- 2.) Dependent (24 years old or younger) vs independent status (>24 years old)
- 3.) Full vs part-time enrollment status (this affects Pell Grants only)
- 4.) Past student loan awards

Applying for FAFSA

The FAFSA is available on October 1 of any given year.

Birthwise

On the FAFSA be sure to choose the following:

- 1) school code is 036123 for Title IV.
- 2) Is an undergraduate, 3-year, certification program.

We will not be able to process a financial aid award package otherwise.

Federal Student Aid

Federal Student Aid comes in these possible forms:

Pell Grants »»

This is money that is awarded based on family income and does not need to be paid back. This is only available to students who do not have a bachelor's degree. The annual Pell Grant is split in two parts, each part being paid at the start of each of the two semesters of that academic year.

Subsidized Stafford Loans »»

These are loans that do not accrue interest until after the student is no longer attending school. The student must begin paying back these loans 6 months after either graduating, withdrawing from school, or dropping below half time status. The annual loan amount is split in two parts, each part being paid at the start of the two semesters of that academic year. Most students are eligible for the maximum amount of these loans unless their family income is very high or they have reached the limit set by the U.S. government due to past educational loans.

Unsubsidized Stafford Loans »»

Similar to Subsidized loans, these loans are low interest, but the interest is not subsidized and therefore does accrue from the time the loan is given. The student does not need to begin payment on the loan until 6 months after graduating or withdrawing, or dropping below half time status, but they do need to pay off the interest that accrued while they were in school. The annual loan amount is split in two parts, each part being paid at the start of the two semesters of that academic year. Most students are eligible for the maximum amount of these loans unless their family income is very high or they have reached the limit set by the U.S. government due to past educational loans.

Can I defer the payments on the student loans I already have while I am a student at Birthwise?

Yes! You can defer previous loans until you graduate from Birthwise.

Pell Grant Availability

One thing to note is that Birthwise students are not eligible for as much Pell Grant money as a student attending a degree granting institution. This is because academic credits are divided by two for schools that do not confer degrees (associates, bachelors, etc.), and Pell amounts are based on whether the student is full time (12 or more credits), three quarter time (9-11 credits), or part time (6-8 credits).

For example, if a student registers for 17 academic credits at Birthwise, the USED recognizes that as 8.5 credits, which is part time.

However, clinical credits (clinical rotations and preceptorships) are recognized as full credits. For example, if a student registers for 16 credits of preceptorship, the USED recognizes all 16 credits and that student is considered eligible for a full-time Pell Grant.

Each semester is calculated using this formula and Pell is awarded accordingly.

Pell Grant Details

Some semesters students will meet the USED criteria for full time status and others will be considered part time. Because the Community Program has more clinical credits distributed throughout the program, students enrolled in that program will be eligible for larger Pell Grants. See the table on page 7 for status of students by semester and the maximum award amounts available.

The Midwives of Color and the Underserved Communities Scholarships

The Goal of the Underserved Communities Midwifery Scholarship

- » To expand midwifery into communities where access to midwives and midwifery care are non-existent or limited.
- » To support students who come from communities that could benefit from the care of a trained midwife and who plan to return to those communities upon graduation to serve and become midwifery leaders.

With the goal of increasing the numbers of midwives of color and midwives serving other distinct and underserved communities, Birthwise Midwifery School offers two scholarships designed to reduce the financial barriers to education for these prospective midwives. Birthwise would like to play a small part in making midwifery training, and ultimately midwifery care, more accessible to the people who need it most.

The scholarship consists of a tuition reduction and a stipend for books and materials. The applicants' financial needs and their award amount is determined based on information generated by the Federal Application for Financial Student Aid (FAFSA) application. The tuition reduction is designed to eliminate out-of-pocket tuition costs above what the applicant is eligible to receive in Federal Financial Aid.

Applicants must apply for this scholarship by April 15 of any given year and up to 5 new recipients are chosen each year. Once awarded, the scholarships apply to each subsequent semester that the student is enrolled at least half time at Birthwise.

Eligibility Criteria

Recipients of these scholarships will be chosen using the following criteria. Applicants must:

- » Identify as a person of color or a member of a distinct and underserved community.
- » Complete the scholarship application form by April 15 of any given year.
- » For those without a prior college degree, applicants must be eligible for a Federal Pell Grant as determined in the FAFSA application process OR
- » For those with a prior college degree (Bachelor's, Master's, or Doctorate), applicants must demonstrate financial need through the FAFSA application process.
- » Meet all the admission requirements as outlined in the Birthwise catalog and be admitted to the midwifery program.
- » Maintain satisfactory academic progress, as outlined in the Student Handbook, to continue receiving the scholarship.
- » Have proficiency in the English language.

For more information about our scholarships, please contact us directly or visit our website.

Goals of the Midwives of Color Access Scholarship

- » To remove the financial barriers to enrollment at Birthwise by committing to meet the participants demonstrated financial need through an integrated financial aid package.
- » To play a small part in addressing the disparities in birth outcomes among Black mothers, people of color, and their babies.
